

"PEACE WITH VICTORY," BRIAND'S SLOGAN

Aristide Briand.

"Peace with victory," is the slogan of the new French cabinet, headed by Aristide Briand. The new premier has given France and the world to understand that he has not the slightest idea of peace until Germany is conquered; also that France will continue united to her allies by the strongest bonds.

AGRICULTURAL DISPLAYS
CROWD BIGGER QUARTERS

In spite of the fact that the space recently allotted to agricultural exhibits has been increased by one third, and that the Indian exhibit has a building all its own, there are still exhibits that have to be restricted.

In this exhibit there is quite a fight developing between Maricopa and Yavapai counties, with Yuma, Coconino, Graham, Pinal, Santa Cruz, Navajo and Apache running them a close race for the first honors. The boys and girls' room and room club has created a very favorable impression. There is an exhibition in this department corn and trail grown and earned by Arizona youngsters. A number of Indians have entered in this contest.

In the Indian building is everything in the line of an exhibit from that of the Indian schools to the display of the Indian farmer. Some of it has been picked from remote schools to the stage and train and thence into Phoenix. The popularity of the exhibits that come from Navajo and Apache county were ranked from fifty and a hundred miles to the railroad in order that the Indians in that section might have a fair showing.

SUES JUDGE WHO REFUSED HIM WRIT

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—John Callis, a rancher living just outside the city, filed suit late today against John M. York, presiding judge of the superior court, for $5000 damages. Callis charges that Judge York refused to grant him a writ of habeas corpus.

The complaint stated that Callis was arrested on November 11 for violating a city ordinance concerning the hauling of garbage through the streets. Two days later, it is alleged, Judge York denied application for a writ of habeas corpus.

Callis contends that the penal code provides that the court shall not refuse an application for a writ of habeas corpus, if properly presented, except in time of war.

MISTREATED INDIVIDUAL
AT HANDS OF OFFICERS

Story of Man Brought in From Gila Bend.

A man in a pitiable condition, shot through the left leg and battered about the head, was brought in from the south yesterday morning and taken to the sheriff's office. His suffering was so great that he was not quite coherent. He said that his name was A. Billins. He was walking from Maricopa, carrying his better clothes in a bag. When he reached Gila Bend he was met by a man who said that he was an officer, and was joined by another officer. They asked Billins what was in the bag, and after they had investigated, one of them hit him with his revolver and knocked him down. When he arose he started to run, and it was then that he was shot.

The matter will be investigated by the sheriff's office. It should be stated that whatever officer did this thing he was not an officer of this county. Formerly the railroad company employed officers at Gila Bend and other stations along the road and had them deputized as deputy sheriffs. But later, all these officers were withdrawn by the railroad company and the road brought in a lot of former policemen from California towns to take their places. These officers hold no commission from the counties through which the road runs.

Unions Take No Part.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 15.—Officers of the state and city federations of labor decided at a meeting tonight to take no part in the campaign of the American Federation of Labor in behalf of Joseph Hillstrom, sentenced to be shot next Friday for the murder of J. G. Morrison, and advised President Gompers by telegram of their views. The telegram, which was signed by the president of the two local bodies, expresses the conviction that Hillstrom had a fair trial by an impartial jury, that he had a fair hearing in the supreme court and before the board of pardons; that the labor unions of Utah have not interfered in the case and "know no reason why they should be dragged into an agitation that is based on misinformation."

R. E. Currie, president of the Salt Lake Federation of Labor, said tonight that D. A. Camomile, delegate from Salt Lake to the San Francisco convention, "had no right to declare on the floor of the convention, as a Utah delegate, that Hillstrom did not have a fair trial and was not presenting the view of organized labor in Utah."

Thomas Mooney, mentioned in the dispatches as a Salt Lake man who spoke in behalf of Hillstrom at the convention, is not known by officers of organized labor here, and his name is not in the city directory.

President Gompers' message, containing the resolutions adopted by the convention, was received at Governor Spry's office after the governor had left for the day, and has not been read by him.

THIRTY-ONE KILLED

Thomas Mashakowski, laborer, Louis Minigh, laborer, J. S. Davis, timberman, Noel Goldman, laborer, C. B. Castagna, laborer, Thomas Speck, motorman, and the following miners: Joseph Baldacci, Romeo Madoni, John Storey, Louis Pazzalotti, Angelo Morris, L. Shibaunt, John Arko, Frank Wegher, Emil Pasenleik, John Miller, Joseph Zzone, Michael Kominski, Jos. Zalch.

All but seven of the men in the mine when the explosion occurred were married and had large families. Late tonight after the rescue teams had ascertained that all remaining in the mine were dead, but could not be reached because of the fire and debris. Superintendent R. D. Scott ordered that efforts to penetrate the mine farther be abandoned while all available men were put to work to clearing away the wreckage so the fire could be extinguished and the bodies recovered.

From the time the explosion occurred until late tonight, scores of women and children who had relatives in the mine, crowded silently around the blackened shaft waiting word from those laboring within to reach the entombed men. Even after word was passed around that all were given up for lost, the women waited, hoping that the next trip of the cage would bring up the bodies of their loved ones.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. The mine was well equipped with safety appliances and was considered one of the safest in the state.

Two Die in Explosion
FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 15.—Charles Seese, superintendent of construction company, and R. W. Oront, a fireman, were killed tonight by an explosion of gas in the boiler house at the new plant of the New Carolina Mine of the Consolidated Coal Company. The force of the explosion was felt at Fairmont, ten miles away.

QUICK COMEBACK.

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 15.—Charles White of Chicago, who was defeated two months ago by Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis, turned on his conqueror tonight and knocked him out a minute and a half after the bout started. After being floored for a count of seven, Saylor struggled to his feet, only to go down again for the full count. The match was for twelve rounds. The men are lightweights.

A DOUBLE ERRAND —

Captain John C. Greenway, general manager of the Cadmet & Arizona Mining company arrived in town yesterday partly for the purpose of visiting the fair but mostly to be present last night at the Navy League dinner. Captain Greenway is an enthusiastic advocate of preparedness. He believes that a country as rich as this in money and resources should spare no expense in assuring itself of peace by the most thorough preparation for war.

ADMIRAL PEARY HAS THRILLS IN AIR

Admiral Peary ready to go up in flying machine.

Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, had his first trip in the air a few days ago, when he was taken for a flight of several minutes' duration by Frank A. Burnside, a young American aviator, flying a Curtiss flying boat at Long Branch, N. Y. The famous explorer had a most thrilling experience. When the machine was at an altitude of 1,200 feet the motor stopped. The machine tipped suddenly to the left, righted itself, and Burnside guided it in spiral swoops downward until it rested on the water. Those on shore, who had seen the machine tip and then begin its spiral downward, sighed with relief.
